DC Star Ratings

Description:

The Office of the State Superintendent of Education (OSSE) released the DC School Report Card, which includes information about how every public school in the District has performed in school years 2017-2018 as well as 2018-2019. The DC School Report Card covers more than 150 data points, including the School Transparency and Reporting (STAR) Framework Rating of overall school performance. Within this framework, schools are rated from 1 to 5 STARs, with 5 being the highest. This dataset shows a STAR Rating between 1(lowest) and 5(highest) based on their STAR Score (0-100) for each school in Washington, DC for school year 2017-2018.
